Tito Would Have Allies Quit Korea

Urges West to Try All Means to Keep the Peace

(An exclusive interview granted Edward N. Korry, chief British correspondent for the United Press, Yugoslavia's Marshal Tito counsels the West to get out of "strategic" Korea and to try another four-power conference with Russia to avert World War III.—Editor)

By Edward N. Korry

(World Correspondent, 1941, by United Press)
BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, Jan. 8.—(UP)—Premier Marshal Tito believes the West should pull its troops out of Korea, delay rearming western Germany, and agree to a big Four conference with Russia to try to avert another world war.

Tito surveyed world affairs in an exclusive interview with this correspondent, calling the situation "very critical." He urged the western powers to try everything possible short of appeasement to save the peace.

He also disclosed that he had threatened for the present any thought of releasing Marshal Archibald Alexander Stojadinovic from prison because of opposition within Yugoslavia to such a move. Marshal Stojadinovic was sentenced in October to 18 years in prison on charges of collaboration with the Axis.

Altogether I asked Tito about 30 questions during the interview. He answered:

Opposes German Arms

On rearmament of Western Germany—"It would represent a step toward a solution... an agreement among the Allies (including Russia) should be to agree to the 'German problem'."

On the Balkans—some 60,000 Bulgarian, Hungarian and Romanian troops are "primarily directed against Yugoslavia" but the Yugoslav army can handle this force "and even a bigger one."

On China—China is not a major power, "but I cannot say whether the Soviet Union will treat her always and in every respect as a major power."

On the Balkans—Yugoslavia is not very much a socialist country despite its close cooperation with the West, and the government has no intention of returning enterprises to private individuals.

War Not Inevitable

"After the experience the peoples of the world have undergone in the last year, they should hope and believe that war can be averted," he replied. War is not inevitable, "there is always the possibility of saving the peace, but the situation is very critical..."

"A four-power meeting should be held because everything possible must be done to maintain world peace."

"Has the marshal changed any of his strategic views in connection with the Korean military developments?" I asked.

"Experience in Korea only confirms my own tactics and strategy," he replied. "In the first place, the main factor in the Korean war is the factor of war. Of course, it can't be done without equipment, but the main factor is war. It is not enough. It is a fact that tactics, can always compensate for technical inferiority."

"Whatever political reasons there are for the Korean war, it has a different character for the Korean people than for the United Nations troops. For the Koreans, the arrival of the UN troops was an invasion and they are fighting against it. Now the Chinese and Soviet Koreans are advancing with no hindrance from the rear."

"How does the marshal feel peace can be restored in the Far East?"

"That's difficult to answer," Tito said. "In my opinion, the thing in Korea is useless. It would be better for the UN forces to leave because the situation is strategically futile. In Korea they only lose troops and they get involved in a long, drawn-out war."

Hollywood Film Banned in Egypt

CAIRO, Jan. 8.—(UP)—The Egyptian government has banned the Hollywood film "The Egyptian" because it is "too Jewish."

The film is a comedy about the life of a Jewish family in Egypt. It was produced by the Egyptian government and is being shown in Egyptian theaters.

Royal Trust Chief in City

EDMONTON, Jan. 8.—(UP)—The Royal Trust, a group of British royal family members, is expected to arrive in Edmonton today for a visit.

The group includes Prince Philip, Duke of Edinburgh, and other members of the royal family. They will be in the city for a few days.

Jimmy the Badger Back After Week-End Spree

JIMMY the badger was back in his Borden Park Zoo quarters today after a Saturday tour of the zoo.

At least the zoo attendants said he was back, although there was no sign of the grey-furred, black-striped animal.

He may have been resting up from the trip he took when he was taken to the zoo last week.

RED CHINA IS WARNED

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Jan. 8.—(AP)—Britain called on the United Nations today to make another effort for a Korean cease-fire, but warned Communist China that it might force a "free world" if it insisted on acceptance of its own terms.

On Korea—"In my opinion, the thing in Korea is useless. It would be better for the UN forces to leave because the situation is strategically futile. The West should have its strength for Europe."

On whether Russia really wants peace—"You cannot say that someone does not want peace. The question is under what conditions. What is peace for someone may be war for someone else."

QUEBEC, Jan. 8.—(CP)—Mr. Justice Albert Guay is studying a petition seeking a stay of execution for 21-year-old Guay, 35-year-old Jeweler due to be hanged Friday for his part in Quebec's time-bomb case that cost 22 lives.

Dinner Fetes 3 Retiring City Firemen

Three retiring firemen whose combined years with the department totalled 119 years were honored by 70 of their comrades at a banquet held Friday night in the Maymont Hotel.

The men were Capt. Thomas Steele, Capt. Charles Mann and former Fire Chief James Macgregor. All three retired during 1950. Each received a personal wallet containing a cheque. Each also received an honorary union membership card.

Former Chief Macgregor joined the force in 1911 and served as fire chief from 1933 until his retirement. Capt. Steele enlisted in 1913 and rose through the ranks to be at present president of the Edmonton Trades and Labor Council. Capt. Mann joined in 1916 and has been active in firemen's circles for 34 years.

Capt. James Lander, chairman of the retirement banquet, welcomed the guests. He stated the third annual banquet was growing in size each year and expressed the good wishes of the department to the three retiring members.

Prairies Skip Rate Hearing

WINNIPEG, Jan. 8.—(CP)—The Winnipeg Free Press today says it has learned that Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta will not be represented at the Board of Transport Commissioners' general freight rate hearing at Ottawa Jan. 15.

This hearing is distinct from the board's Jan. 19 hearing on the railway application for a five-per-cent interim increase, at which the three prairie provinces will be represented.

The Free Press says "it is understood from Ottawa that the three provinces have taken the stand that the general inquiry would be of little value until the report of the Transport Commission on transportation is received."

It is expected the three provinces will inform the board privately of their position without making a formal appearance at the Jan. 15 hearings.

German Statesman Dies In States

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Jan. 8.—(AP)—F. Wilhelm Solmann, 68, a noted German statesman and journalist, died Saturday night after a long illness. Solmann served as minister of interior in the German cabinet after the first World War, and was a member of the German peace delegation at Versailles. He fled the Nazi government in March 1933 and eventually came to the United States in 1937.

BEST-TRAINED SOLDIER

Canadians Part Sadly With Mascot 'Little Joe'

VANCOUVER, Jan. 8.—(CP)—It was a party for the Canadians when they left "Little Joe" in Korea.

The story of Sgt. Joe was told here Saturday night by members of Canada's advance party, who returned from Korea.

The four-year-old Korean mascot screamed and cried and had to be held by two soldiers when his Canadian buddies headed home.

He was uniformed and trained in military drill by a U.S. outfit.

"The party was as hard on us as it was on Joe," said Sgt. John Douglas of Timmin, Ont. "He sure wanted to come with us."

Sgt. Joe joined the Canadians at their camp outside Pusan. His parents had been killed by North Korean Communists.

"He was one of the best trained soldiers we had," said Sgt. David Forsyth of Bellevue, Alta. "When he saw an officer coming he would stop dead and salute."

For a short time the Canadians adopted another two-year-old Korean orphan.

"We thought 'he was a boy,'" said Sgt. Roy Bourgeois of Quebec's Royal 22nd Regiment, commander of the advance party.

But the mistake was discovered when bath time came. "He" was a little girl. The Canadians got her some clothing and placed her in an orphanage.

Maj. Bourgeois said Pusan is a city of thousands of war orphans, who play in the streets.

"The children laugh, but the adults in Korea don't."

Destroyer Cayuga Aids Inchon Withdrawal; Flaming Sights Told

OTTAWA, Jan. 8.—(CP)—The Navy reported Saturday the Canadian destroyer Cayuga participated in the evacuation of Inchon Thursday and released a colorful account of the flaming sights her sailors saw.

This latest role for the Canadian destroyers in Korea waters came a little less than four months after the Cayuga, Sioux and Athabaskan participated in the spectacular United Nations landing at Inchon.

This time Cayuga was part of a commonwealth task force assigned to escort fuel and supply ships out of the harbor and get them started on their way to areas farther south.

Officers and men of Cayuga got a grandstand view of the scene Thursday night as the ships moved out of the harbor and amid the effects of demolition on facilities ashore.

The U.S.S. Rochester, American heavy cruiser, lay close inshore and directed her fire beyond the city as the ships moved from Seoul to Inchon. Shells from her guns razed fiery areas in the black sky as round after round was lobbed a distance of some 10 miles.

Leut. Andrew Collier of Salmon Arm, B.C., told of "hordes of junk and small craft streaming out of the harbor," their port and starboard lights dotted the night like lights on a Christmas tree.

Cayuga completed one escort job at nightfall and returned to the harbor. As she entered the port the men on watch saw the devastating effects of demolition on facilities ashore.

Claxton Readies Billion Dollar Defence Budget

OTTAWA, Jan. 8.—(BUP)—Defence Minister Brooke Claxton returned from a vacation in the Laurentian mountains today to tackle final details of his billion-dollar defence budget.

Claxton will ask the new session of parliament next month to give him more than $1,000,000,000 to spend on defence in the next fiscal year, starting April 1. He may also ask for more money to pay last year's bills in the current fiscal year.

Most of the $200,000,000 will be spent this year as a result of Canada's stepped-up military program and the new drive to get a western European army in shape as quickly as possible.

The defence appropriations allow the government to plan ahead for defence spending beyond the normal expiration of parliamentary grants. With parliament's consent, the defence chiefs can enter into contracts in the next fiscal year for arms and supplies to be delivered and paid for in future years.

The $1,000,000,000 budget for defence was forecast last fall by Finance Minister Douglas C. Austin. Claxton said the amount would cover both Canadian defence requirements in the new fiscal year, and this country's participation in North Atlantic defence.

OTTAWA, Jan. 8.—(BUP)—Defence Minister Brooke Claxton returned from a vacation in the Laurentian mountains today to tackle final details of his billion-dollar defence budget.

Claxton will ask the new session of parliament next month to give him more than $1,000,000,000 to spend on defence in the next fiscal year, starting April 1. He may also ask for more money to pay last year's bills in the current fiscal year.

Most of the $200,000,000 will be spent this year as a result of Canada's stepped-up military program and the new drive to get a western European army in shape as quickly as possible.

The defence appropriations allow the government to plan ahead for defence spending beyond the normal expiration of parliamentary grants. With parliament's consent, the defence chiefs can enter into contracts in the next fiscal year for arms and supplies to be delivered and paid for in future years.

Six Nations Discuss New Legislation

OTTAWA, Jan. 8.—(CP)—Citizenship Minister Harris meets today with a delegation of six Nations Indians to discuss proposed revision of the government's Indian legislation.

The delegates, all from the Six Nations tribe at Brantford, Ont., include chief councillor E. P. Garlow, councillor Leonard Strata, secretary Arnold Moses, and Reginald Hill, an Indian school teacher.

The tribe last summer presented a brief to the government protesting certain provisions of the bill, product of a long study of a joint committee of the Commons and Senate. The bill revises and consolidates older federal legislation dealing with Indians as a whole.

The bill was introduced late in the spring session of Parliament last summer and was withdrawn by Mr. Harris for further consideration after protests against its provisions both by Indians and opposition members of Parliament.

UP AGAIN
Since then, further revisions have been made with the aim of meeting some of these protests, and the government plans to reintroduce the legislation at the Parliamentary session opening at the end of this month.

The act gives Canada's Indians a more active role in the administration of their affairs. It provides also that the consent of the council of Indian bands must be obtained before expenditures are made by the government out of the capital moneys of the bands.

It will affect some 130,000 Indians scattered across the country. About 20,000 of them are in British Columbia, 45,000 in the Prairie provinces, 35,000 in Ontario, 14,000 in Quebec, 3,000 in the Maritimes and a few in Labrador.

Among the clauses criticized by Indians is one which provides for the compulsory enfranchisement of any Indian girl who marries a white man.

Old Resident Of City Dies

Resident of Edmonton for 37 years, William Mead, 72, of 3841 50 street, died at his home yesterday.

Mr. Mead, a retired mechanic, was born in Buckingham, England. He came to Canada with his parents in 1902 and later moved to Edmonton, where he had lived since.

He is survived by his widow, two sons, John and William, both of Edmonton; and two daughters, Mrs. J. A. Roberts of Edmonton and Mrs. Mary Kirk of Jasper.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 10:30 a.m. at St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Rev. R. R. Hinchey officiating. Burial will be in Edmonton Cemetery.

Car Drivers Put $97,353 In Parking Meters

Cash receipts from Edmonton's 1,300 parking meters during 1950 were $97,353.

City Engineer J. D. A. MacDonald said today this is $14,587 more than the total take during 1949.

No figure is yet available on revenue on hand for off-street parking provisions, but on Dec. 31, 1950 there was $30,706 on hand after making payments on purchase of meters and their maintenance.

Last payment on meters now in operation was made in September.

De Gaulle Appeals For U.S. Aid

PARIS, Jan. 8.—(AP)—Gen. Charles de Gaulle Sunday called on the United States to help defend Europe because "the fate of you and you have need of her."

The general, symbol of France's wartime resistance, spoke at Nimes in Southern France. His plea came on the same day that Gen. Dwight Eisenhower arrived in Paris to take over command of the North Atlantic armed forces.

The real legislative authority in Russia is vested in 33 men of the presidium of the supreme council, almost permanently in session.

TRICKSTER SUSPECTED

Thuds Mystify Residents Of Winnipeg Duelling

WINNIPEG, Jan. 8.—(CP)—Haunted house—or trick—is the report turned into police on mysterious thuds emanating from a Winnipeg house to the consternation of its inhabitants.

And police lay emphasis on the trick angle.

Fear of them investigated the premises last week after the house occupants reported the thuds unexplainable. They seemed to come from the wall, starting around 6 p.m. and ending at 11 p.m.

But police didn't solve the mystery and said that while they didn't for a moment think it was haunted, the residents could have their services again if needed.

Reporters checked the thumps. A plumber was verified the hot water pipes.

Other household equipment which possibly might be guilty has been checked.

Suggestions for rectifying the situation range from structural corrections to moving out. The residents of the house, which contains suites, say even adults are going shut on sleep.

U.K. Parliament Soon Hears Impact of Arms Program

LONDON, Jan. 8.—(Reuters)—The full impact of Britain's new rearmament program is expected to be disclosed in parliament later this month.

By the time parliament meets again Jan. 23, members hope all the technicalities will have been worked out in preparation for a top-level preview of defence preparations by Defence Minister Ernest Shinnell.

The exact total of Britain's new defence burden still is a close secret. Last July, plans were drafted estimating expenditure of £2,600,000,000 (about $10,000,000,000) spread over a three-year period. Since then, the government has announced that another £200,000,000 will have to be added to the total.

MAJOR TOP $4 BILLION
Informed sources say the more recent decisions may force the bill over £4,000,000,000.

Britain faces home-front problems which may have a vital bearing on defence.

One of the biggest is a demand for more pay by an estimated 7,000,000 workers, which may unsettle financial stability.

Million Dollar Fire Hits Town

MAINTSVILLE, Va., Jan. 8.—(AP)—A wind-lashed blaze cut a $1,000,000 hole in the heart of this south-central Virginia furniture centre last night and early today before it was brought under control.

Firemen smothered the flames after a four-hour fight which left most of one large business block a mass of smoking rubble.

Norse Vessel Reported Sinking

OSLO, Jan. 8.—(AP)—The 440-ton Norwegian vessel Monty, both her decks smashed by heavy seas, was reported sinking last night off Arendal on Norway's south coast.

She has 11 crew members aboard. The Monty's wireless operator sent out a distress call which was picked up by the coast guard station at Tromsø.

Record-Seeking Girl Dies In Jump Try

BUENOS AIRES, Jan. 8.—(AP)—A 36-year-old nurse was killed Saturday trying to set a record for consecutive parachute jumps. Miss Elvira Cruz jumped successfully 35 times from a plane, but on the 36th try, her parachute did not open until she was 13 feet from the ground. She died shortly after.

Reporters checked the thumps. A plumber was verified the hot water pipes.

Other household equipment which possibly might be guilty has been checked.

8-Storey Building Will House AGT

Provision Made In Plans For Six More Stories

Work will begin soon on construction of a $1,250,000, eight-storey building to house all administrative offices of Alberta Government Telephone.

This was announced today by telephone officials following award of a contract to a local firm for excavating basement.

Building will be situated on the north side of 97 avenue, west of 107 street underpass.

Original plans call for the eight-storey building but foundations will be constructed to support six additional stories which will be added later.

Tenders for general contract will be called for later in the month. Plans are being prepared by R. Wynn and R. H. of this city. Completion of the first eight stories is expected by June, 1952.

Wage-Price Controls Said To Be Near

Washington, Jan. 8.—(UPI)—Economic stabilization administrator Alan Valentine predicted today that overall wage-price controls will be imposed "in time, unless the trend changes."

Valentine said in a copyrighted interview with the weekly news magazine U.S. News and World Report that lack of organization and "other factors" prevent immediate general controls.

"There are people in my shop (and I am one of them)," Valentine said, "who are far from sure that, even if we had a staff superbly organized, it would be wise to put in general price and wage controls now."

"But unless the trend changes," he said, "it will tend to prevail in time, but I don't know when."

POWER DISPUTE

Defense minister Charles E. Wilson on the dispute between Valentine and price stabilizer Michael V. D'Almeida over Valentine's proposed wage-price freeze.

Wilson, who is reported to favor D'Almeida's plan for immediate wage-price controls, may rule for permanent controls, either on a few critical items or an across-the-board basis, thus scrapping the temporary scheme.

And President Truman is expected to ask Congress soon for authority to control soaring food prices.

Two Killers Pay For Victims' Lives

Two convicted killers were executed early today in the electric chair at Rockview penitentiary. They were 48-year-old Clement Shupp, of Allentown, Pa., who was convicted of the 1948 shooting of William Walck in an Allentown saloon; and Alex Agoston, 42, of Berwick, Pa., condemned to die for the slaying of Russell Balliet, a local lawyer.

Canada's Lumber Trade Assured

TORONTO, Jan. 8.—(CP)—A United Nations forestry expert says Canada need not fear that her lumber industry will be affected by the great expansion of forestry in hitherto undeveloped countries.

Addressing the Royal Canadian Institute here Saturday night, Dr. J. G. Gieseler, deputy director of the division of forestry for the Food and Agriculture Organization of U.N., said the great demand for wood and wood products will continue.

He is asking for more wages for lower-paid workers, two weeks' vacation a year instead of one, cheaper transport, more personal amenities at the pits and other incentives.

Output Down

CALGARY.—(CP)—Alberta's coal production for 11 months of 1950 was 2,225,000 tons, or more than half a million tons lower than a year ago. One-fifth of the decrease was accounted for in November production.

Toronto to Aid Ten Parishes

TORONTO, Jan. 8.—(CP)—The influx of European refugees and displaced persons is providing the Roman Catholic Church in Canada with "greater problems than ever before in its history," James Cardinal McGuigan yesterday told the Archdiocesan Union of Holy Name Societies. He said establishment of 10 new parishes here have been approved for the Toronto archdiocese to care for the newcomers.

Lois Marshall Wants World Tour To Crown Her Singing Career

Big ambitions live in the heart of a tiny singing star here from Toronto today.

Lois Marshall, singing at Masonic Temple tonight in the opening concert of her Western Canada tour, dreams of covering the globe with her silvery soprano voice.

Foremost critics predict she will "soon be recognized as one of the greatest singers of our era."

But she has no fair tale overnight rise to stardom. Second youngest of eight children, she was struck down with poliomyelitis at the age of two and earned a special school for crippled children in Toronto when nearly eight.

VOICE GOES ON

She was never at school for more than a few months before another setback on the operating table interrupted her studies. But she never stopped singing.

Performing at school functions and in the home, her beautiful untutored voice fascinated one of her teachers who arranged and paid for a year's tuition with Welton Kilburn.

From Miss Marshall's point of view the choice of teacher was disastrous, and it is to Mr. Kilburn that she gives most of the credit for her success.

CREDITS TEACHER

For ten years he has been her teacher, composer and friend and she worked hard and sang to develop the voice he knew from the first she had made.

In 1947 she entered the Royal Conservatory Senior school on the Emmy Hein scholarship and spent a year studying German.

During the year she was the best of her teachers of that time, and in the spring of 1950 she won the Eaton Graduate scholarship.

It was the Conservatory's most outstanding student.

SHARES TRIUMPH

At her first professional appearance in Toronto two months ago, Mrs. Kilburn was her accompanist and it was a triumph for him too when critics acclaimed Miss Marshall as "phenomenal" and as "possessing a fabulous voice."

Her husband, who is now in Regina, is for classes which will start Jan. 12.

Lancasters Going Back Into Service

Offering 10 courses to be given by members of the university's staff, the lectures cover a 10-week period in the evenings, between 8 and 9:30 p.m. One lecture a week is given in each subject.

Lectures will be given in the medical building on the campus. Registration ends Jan. 18. Registration may be made by mail to the Department of Extension, University of Alberta, or in person at the department.

The lectures are designed for those unable to attend daytime classes at the University. The courses do not lead to any university degree or special qualification. The fee for each course is $2 and is payable in advance.

THREE FIELDS

The courses cover three fields—culture, business and useful arts.

One in Canadian economic problems and policy will give the layman a chance to explore some of the main issues vital to all Canadians, including pensions, social security, the welfare state and Dominion-Provincial tax agreements.

Canada and the World, with special reference to Canada's role in global politics is a course designed for all internationally-minded citizens.

Special feature of the lectures will be the northern defences of this country and a descriptive survey of Siberia.

Those persons with a working knowledge of high school French will be given a chance to brush up on their conversation in a special course given by Madame J. E. Lambert. A French play will be the basis of the course.

CHORAL LEADERSHIP

The amateur musician who wishes to develop his knowledge, more fully, especially in choral work, will welcome the course in choral leadership. The course covers the basic principles of choral work.

U.S. Residents Flock Over Line to Buy Food

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 8.—(UPI)—At Windsor, Ont., they crossed the United States buyers flocked to the international bridge from Detroit across the Canadian border today to stock up on foodstuffs that cost them more at home.

Hereafter, here and in other Canadian border cities expected a heavy influx of American buyers, mostly housewives, who made the trip to buy high prices brought on by the Korean war.

Several auto shoppers said they were getting in extra stocks of every day foods to ease with the demand.

Most of the American shoppers in Fort Erie came from Buffalo, N.Y.
